

My Communication Bill of Rights

I have the right to my own friends and social life.

I have the right to ask for what and who I want and where to go.

I ALWAYS have the right to say, "no!"

I have the right to say what I feel.

I have the right to make my own, real, choices.

I have the right to say what I think.

I have the right to ask for, get and give information.

I have the right to know about the people in my life and everything happening to me.

I have the right to be taught to communicate and have what I need.

I have the right to have my communication system (and other tools), to have them working and to be with people who know how to set up, use and fix my communication system.

I have the right to be heard and answered, even if I can't have what I want.

I have the right to be part of my community

I have the right to be treated with respect.

I have the right to be talked to and not about.

I have the right to be talked with in a way I understand.
